MOM: When you're done, let me know
MARY: It's getting stuck to the pan
DAD: Here, let me help
MOM: It wouldn't be so hard if you had just learned when you were younger.

*Mom washing dishes. Mary frying eggs.
Dad watching over Mary's shoulder.*

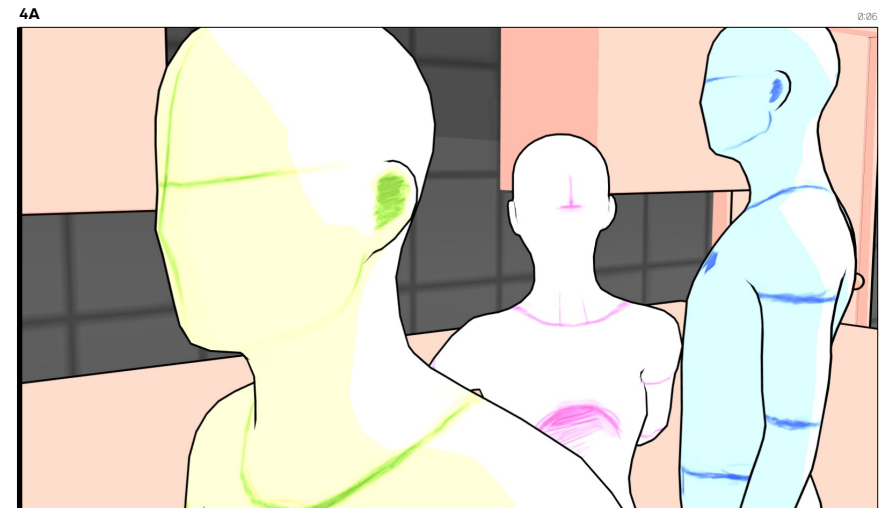

DAD: If you scrape it, it comes off.
MARY: Yeah, but then it's scrambled, not hard.
DAD: Well, then you get scrambled eggs.

Mary turns back to the stove

MARY: It wouldn't be so hard if you taught me how.
MOM: Valid.
DAD: If you scrape it, it comes off.

Mary turns slightly to Mom.

MOM: Could you please stop arguing?
